POLITICAL.

Speech of Senator Revels—The Colored Successor of Jefferson Davis.

"Nothing Lost in Intelligence—Much Gained in Patriotism and Loyalty."

THE GEORGIA BILL.

At 1 o'clock the Georgia bill was taken up, the galleries being thronged, in anticipation of a Speech by Mr. Revels, the colored Senator from Mississipi, who had been announced to speak on the subject.

Mr. Morton, who was entitled to the floor, said he would yield it in favor of the Senator from Mississipi.

Mr. Revels the ncommenced his remarks which, during their entire delivery, were listened to with the closest attention by the Senate and the audience which densely filled the galleries.

REVELS' MAIDEN SPEECH.

Mr. Revels spoke as follows:

Mr. President, I rise at this particular juncture in the discussion of the georgia bill with feelings which perhaps never before entered into the experience of any member of this body. I rise, too, with misgivings as to the propriety of lifting my voice at this early period after my admission into the Senate. Perhaps it were wise for me, so inexperienced in the details of Senatorial duties, to remain a passive listener to the progress of this debate. But when I remember that my term is short, and that the issues with which this bill is fraught are momentous in their present and future influence upon the well-being of my race, I would seem indifferente to the importance of the hour and recreant to the high trust imposed upon me, if I hesitated to lend my voice on behalf of the loyal people of the South.

I therefore waive all thought as to the propriety of entering into this discussion. Breaking through a generally understood etiquette of this body, when questions arise which bear upon the safety and protection of the loyal white and colored population of those States lately in rebellion, I cannot allow any thought as to mere propriety to enter into my consideration of duty. The responsibilities of being the exponent of such a constituency as I have the honor to represent are fully appreciated by me. I bear about me daily the keenest sense of their weight, and that feeling prompts me now to lift my voice for the first time in this council chamber of the nation; and, sir, I stand to-day on this floor to appeal for protection from the strong arm of the Government for her loyal children, irrespective of color and race, who are citizens of the southern States, and particularlyof the great State of Georgia.

I am well a ware, sir, that the idea is abroad that an antagonism exists between the whites and blacks: that race which the nation raised from the degradation of slavery and endowed with the full and unqualified rights and privileges of citizenship are intent upon power at whatever price it can be gained. It has been the well considered purpose and aim of a class not confined to the South to spread this charge over the land, and their efforts as vigorous to-day to educate the people of this nation into that belief as they were at the close of the war. It was not uncommon to find this same class, even during the rebellion, prognosticating a servile war.

It may have been that "the wish was father to the thought." And, sir, as the recognized representative of my down trodden people, I deny the charge, and hurl it back into the teeth of those who make it, and who, I believe, have not a true and conscientious desire to further the interests of the whole South. Certainly no one possessing any personal knowledge of the colored population of my or other States need be reminded of the noble conduct of that people under the most trying circumstances in the history of the late war.

When they were beyond the protection of the Federal forces, while mate capable of bearing arms, the mothers, wives, daughters, and sisters of the Southern soldiers were left defenceless and in the power of the blacks, upon whom the chains of slavery were still riveted, and to bind those chains the closer was the real issue for which so much life and property were sacrificed; and now, sir, I ask how did that race act? Did they in those days of Confederate weakness and importence evince the malignancy of which we hear so much?

Granting for the sake of argument that they were ignorant and besotted—which I do not believe—yet with all their supposed ignorance and credulity, they in their way understood as fully as you or I the awful import of the contest. They knew that if the gallant corps of soldiers were beaten back and their flag trailed in the dust, that it was the prestage of still heavier bondage. They longed, too, as their fathers before them, for the advent of that epoch, over which was shed the hallowed light of inspiration itself. They desired, too, with their fathers, to welcome the feet of the stranger shod with the peaceful preparation of good news. Weary years of bondage had told their tale of sorrow to the court of Heaven.

In the councils of the Great Father of all, they knew the adjudication of their case, albeit delayed for years, in which patient suffering had nearly exhausted itself, would in the end bring to them the boon for which they sighed—God's most blessed gift to His creatures, the inestimable boon of liberty. They waited patiently. In the absence of their masters they protected the virtue and chastity of defenseless women. Think, sir, for a moment, what the condition of this land would be to-day if the slave population had risen in servile insurrection against those who month by month were fighting to perpetuate that institution which brought to them all the evils of which they complained? Where would have been the security for property, female chastity and childhood's innocence! The bloody counterpart of such a story of cruelty and wrong would have been paralelled only in those chapters of Jewish history as recorded by Josephus, or in the still later atrocities of that reign of terror which sent the unfortunate Louis the Sixteenth and Marie Antoinette to the scaffold. Nay, the deeds in that drama of cold-blooded butchery would have out Heroded the most diabolical acts of Herod himself.

Mr. President, I maintain that the past record of my race is a true index of the feelings which to-day animate them. They bear towards their former masters no revengeful thoughts, no hatred, no animosities. They aim not to elevate themselves by sacrificing one single interest of their white fellow-citizens. They ask but the rights which are theirs by God's universal law, and which are the natural outgrowth, the logical sequence, of the condition in which the legislative enactments of this nation have placed them. They appeal to you and to me to see that they receive that protection which alone will enable them to pursue their daily avocations with success, and enjoy the liberties of citizenship on the same footing with their white neighbors and friends.

I do not desire simply to defend my own race from unjust and unmerited charges, but I also desire to place upon record an expression of my full and entire confidence in the integrity of purpose with which I believe the President, Congress, and the Republican party will meet these questions, so prolific for weal or woe, not on ly to my own people, but to the whole South. They have been, so far as I can read the history of the times, influenced by no spirit of petty tyranny. The poet has well said that

"It is excellent
To have a giant's strength, but it is tyrannous to use it like a giant."

And how have they used that power lodged in them by the people? In acts of cruelty and oppression towards those who sought to rend in twain this goodly fabric of our fathers—the priceless heritage of so much hardship and endurance in Revolutionary times? Let the reconstruction enactments answer the interrogation. No poor words of mine are needed to defend the wise and beneficent legislation which has been extended alike to white and colored citizens. The Republican party is not inflamed, as some would fain have the country believe, against the white population of the South. Its borders are wide enough for all truly loyal men to find within them peace and repose from the din and discord of angry faction. And be that loyal man white or black, that great party of our Republic will, if consistent with the record it has already made for posterity, throw around him the same impartial security in his pursuit of liberty and happiness.

If a certain class at the South had accepted in good faith the benevolent overtures which were offered to them with no niggard hand, to-day would not find our land still harrassed with feuds and contentions.

I remarked, Mr. President, that I arose to plead for protection for the defenceless race who now send their delegation to the seat of Government to ask for that which this Congress alone can secure to them, and here let me say further that the people of the North owe to the colored race a deep obligation which it is no easy matter to fulfill. When the Federal armies were thinned by death and disaster and sombre clouds overhung the length and breadth of the Republic, and the very air was pregnant with the rumors of foreign interference, in those dark days of defeat, whose memories even yet haunt us as an ugly dream; from what source did our nation in its seeming death throes gain addition and new-found power? It was the sable sons of the South that valiantly rushed to the rescue, and, but for their intrepidity and ardent daring, many a Northern fireside would miss to-day paternal counsels or a brother's love.

Sir, I repeat the fact, that the colored race saved to the noble women of New England and the Middle States men on whom they lean to-day for security and safety. Many of my race, the representatives of these men on the field of battle, sleep in the countless graves of the South. If those quiet resting places of our honored dead should speak to-day, what a mighty voice, like to the rushing of a mighty wind, would come up from those sepulchral homes. Could we resist the eloquent pleadings of their appeal? Ah, sir, I think that this question of immediate and ample protection for the loyal people of Georgia would lose its legal technicalities and we would cease to hesitate in our provisions for their instant relief. Again, I regret this delay on other grounds. The taunt is frequently flung at us that a Nemesis more terrible than the Greek personation of the anger of the gods awaits her hour of direful retribution. We are told that at no distant day a great uprising of the American people will demand that these reconstruction acts of Congress be undone and blotted forever from the annals of legislative enactment.

I inquire, sir, if this delay in affording protection to the loyalists of the State of Georgia does not lend an uncomfortable significancy to this boasting sneer with which we are so often met? Delay is perilous at best, for it is as true in legislation as in physic, that the longer we procrastinate to apply the proper remedies, the more chronic becomes the malady that we seek to heal.

"The land wants such as dare with rigor execute the laws.
Her festered members must be lanced and tended,
He's a bad surgeon that for pity spares
The part corrupted till the gangreen spread
And all the body perish. He that is merciful
Unto the bad is cruel to the good."

Mr. Revels then reviewed the history of affairs in Georgia, stating that at the election in November, 1867, for members to a State convention, thirty thousand white and eighty thousand colored votes were polled, and a number of colored delegates elected. A constitution was framed and ratified, and the Legislature elected under it was convened. After all this, supposing they had passed beyond Congressional control, the rebel element in the Legislature asserted itself, and many of those whose disabilities had been removed by the State convention, which comprised a number of colored members, joined in the declaration which was made by that Legislature, that a man having more than an eighth of African blood in his veins was ineligible to office.

These very men, to whom the Republican party extended all the rights and privleges of citizenship, of which they had deprived themselves, denied political equality to a large majority of their fellow citizens. Twenty-eight members were expelled. On December 22, 1869, an act of Congress was passed requiring the reassembling of the persons declared elected by the military commander, the restoration of the expelled members, and the rejection of others who were disqualified. All conditions had been now complied with, and having ratified the fourteenth and fifteenth constitutional amnedments, Georgia presented herself for recognition.

The Bingham amnedment proposed to legalize the organization of 1868, and would legalize the act of the Legislature in appointing the judges who had decided in favor of class distinction in the State. As a means of future protection for loyal Georgians, he desired these terms should commence from the date of the present legislation. He asked this in the name of one hundred thousand white and colored citizens of the State, and reminded the Senate that he who permitted oppression shared the crime.

Upon the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Revels received the congratulations of many Republican Senators and others, and the immense audience in the galleries, which included many persons of color, slowly dispersed.

Mr. Morton, in complimenting Mr. Revels on his speech, expressed the opinion that in the exchange which had been made by which that gentleman occupied the place of Jefferson Davis, the Senate had lost nothing in intelligence, while it had gained much in patriotism and loyalty. He proceeded to argue that the government of Georgia was provisional, and would so continue until actually represented in Congress.

He claimed that in the reconstruction legislation Congress simply exercised the power of guaranteeing a republican form of government, but had never assumed to give a particular con struction to the constitution of a State, as did the Bingham amendment in declairing the length of the terms of the present State officers. He also argued that the substantial reason for the report of the Judiciary Committee in 1869 against the admission of Mr. Hill as a Senator from Georgia was that the organization of the Legislature was void from the beginning

Mr. Thurman inquired whether, in that event, the action of the Legislature in ratifying the four-teenth amendment would hold good.

Mr. Morton replied that he concurred in the opinion set forth in a former report of the Judiciary Committee, that action was not valid, because the defects in the organization went to a violation of the fundamental law that created the body. Mr. Morton went on to review the whole question, and to controvert the positions assumed by Mr. Trumbull, particularly with reference to the validity of the composition of the Georgia Legislature.

He quoted from the laws of the State to show that provision was expressly made for the admission of minority candidates for the Legislature when the person receiving the highest number of votes was notoriously ineligible. This ineligibility was known to exist at the time of the election, and candidates were voted for simply because they were rebels and excluded from office under the four-teenth amendment.

In regard to the tenure of office, he showed that it was not in contemplation of law that these terms should begin until the State took her place in the Union. That Bullock did not become Governor until then, and that the whole State government was now regarded as merely provisional. The proposed Bingham amendment, he said, was to day a source of exultation to the extreme of Southern wing of the Democratic party, and he opposed it as a violation of justice and of human rights.

Tracks.

BY REV. WM. M. THAYER.

AN old lion, with shaggy locks, invited a nice, slick fox, whom he met, to visit his home. The fox was quite delighted with the attentions of the king of beasts, whose fame had spread through the forest, and he accepted the invitation. Arriving at the threshold of his den, the cunning fox hesitated for a moment and drew back, whereupon the lion urged him to go in and make himself at home. Perhaps the lion thought that Mr. Fox was bashful in the presence of strangers, and for this reason hesitated to meet Mrs. Lion and her family.

"No," said the fox, at length; "I see no traks coming out."

That was the secrete of his hesitation. His keen eye discovered proof that visitors to that abode never came out. The great lion appeared honest and friendly, but the tracks at his door showed that he was a deceiver and murderer. So, not wishing to be served up in a savory dish for the lion's family, the wise fox took to his heels and ran away.

The fox was more sagacious than many boys are. The latter care little or nothing for tracks; much less for the way tracks run, and so they rush into evil ways from which they never escape.

We once visited a prison, to address the criminals confined therein. Most of them were under twenty-five years of age; many of them were not yet eighteen years old—mere boys. In the course of our remarks, we said:

"Doubtless many of you can put your finger upon the first wrong act which started you off in the way of crime.—Perhaps you can recall the day and hour when you decided to do that which brot you finally to this place."

On leaving the prison, one of the officers came to us, and said:

"J—— B—— is confined here for breaking into a store, and he says that you are right—that he knows the very hour when an older brother induced him to do what he knew was very wrong, and the act started him off to ruin."

That is it. If he had been as shrewd as the fox, he would have observed that all the tracks at the entrance of that evil way went in and none out; and he would have refused to enter. He was eighteen years old when he went to prison, and the time between the first wrong deed named and his imprisonment was less than six years. What a pity that, like the fox, he did not run away from danger!

A few years ago, a youth of seventeen was convicted of theft, in Boston. Three years before, he was a member of the Sabbath school, and worshipped regularly with his widowed mother each Sabbath. But he found new associates.—They laughed at him for being "tied to his mother's apron-strings," "going to the Sunday school," and becoming "so pious as to go to meeting every Sabbath." They "wouldn't give up their pleasures for such trash. If he would come with them they would insure him more fun than he could have in all his lifetime by sticking so close to his mother."

That was the lion over again, inviting the fox to his dwelling, only the widow's son did not see it. He did not dream that youth who entered that way seldom returned. He yielded to their ridicule and persuasions; he disregarded his mother's wishes, and left the Sabbath school and the house of worship. Then he was seen riding out of the city on the Lord's Day with his last companions. His whole appearance was changed; he became vulgar, profane and rowdyish. What money he got was spent in wickedness, and he wanted more. It takes a long purse to serve Satan with. He must do his part; jolly companions would not be satisfied with less. How should he get more money? Not honestly; for that would not be like the master whom he served. He resolved to steal it, and he did; he was sent to prison for the crime. His footprints show that he did not come out of that lion's den which his new companions invited him to enter.

One cold winter evening we were addressing a children's meeting, in Boston. While speaking, a ragged, dirty, wretched man entered and took a seat by the door. Though he was a drunkard, he listened. At the close of the meeting, he made his way to the desk, and grasping the speaker by the hand, exclaimed:

"I am a drunkard beyond recovery," and the tears streamed down his checks, and his form shook with emotion.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, Mar. 30, 1870.

ADVERTISING.—The Bellefonte Republican has now a Circulation as Large, if not Larger, than the Democratic Watchman, and fully 600 more than any other Republican paper published in the County. Our Merchants and Business Men will please make a note of this.

BARCAINS! BARGAINS!!

The Bellefonte "Republican" and the "American Agriculturist."

We are now prepared to offer to the people of Centre county, a Great Bargain for the coming year. It is this: To every subscriber who will send us $3.00, in advance, we will send the

and the

for one year. Of the REPUBLICAN we need not speak at present.

The American Agriculturist is a work that no farmer, nor house keeper should be without. As a farm-journal we think it has no superior in the world—certainly none in the United States. It is issued monthly, and the subscription price is $1.50 per annum. By clubing with the REPUBLICAN you save fifty cents, and secure more good reading matter than you can obtain in any other way for the same money.

We hope the reading public will avail themselves of this very liberal offer.

REMOVED.

We have removed the office of the REPUBLICAN, from Bishop St., to the Humes Building, on Allegheny St., three doors South of the First National Bank. We are therefore no longer the "Organ on Bishop St." but the "Peoples organ" fearless and free on Allegheny St. Call in friends one and all. Our latch string is always out.

Bellefonte Republican.

The Bellefonte REPUBLICAN, established January 6, 1869, has now a circulation of 1800, a list larger than any other paper in the county.

It is Republican in politics—unwavering in its devotion to the Union, the Constitution and the Laws. It has, and always will, advocate the doctrine of "Protection to American Labor," the cause of the farmers, mechanics, and workingmen of the whole country. The REPUBLICAN is the uncompromising enemy of 'British Free Trade,' firmly believing the doctrine of FREE TRADE to be ruinous to all the interests of this great Republic; to all the interests of her citizens, North, South, East and West.

THE REPUBLICAN belongs to the people, is run in the interests of the people, and therefore is, and shall ever be opposed to all cliques, Rings, or combinations of selfish and corrupt men for political purposes, which may be formed in the county, in the State, or in the Nation.

"Vox Populi, Vox Dei," "The voice of the people is the voice of God," is an old adage, and while it may not be true in the sense in which it is generally used, it is most emphatically true when the people's voice is raised in advocacy of sound morals and good laws; in advocacy of civil and religious liberty; in the advocacy of the Rights of man, the cause of God and humanity.

The REPUBLICAN adheres to the doctrine that all power is from the people—the sovereigns of this great country. It also believes in the great truth so beautifully expressed by one of America's greatest Statesmen, "Eternal Vigilance is the price of Liberty." We have placed the REPUBLICAN upon the "Watch Tower" in Centre Co., and we hereby pledge the whole people that it will watch and guard well their interests. In return, we respectfully solicit their confidence and support.

J. G. Meyer.

We notice that a joint resolution has finally passed both Houses of our State Legislature, fixing the 7th day of April for their final adjournment.

Will the friends of our Representative, J. G. Meyer, take notice of the fact, and if they know where Jacob is, give him notice that the Legislature will adjourn at that time, so that he will know when to come home?

We understand that he is now in Lebanon county selling flour. What does he care for the interests of the L. C. & S. C. R. R., or the Pennsvalley Democrats? We are sorry—we can't say that our sorrow is real—that Jacob will be made a yearling of. But it is right when men will not be true to their constituents, they should be made to feel the power which is vested in the people. Remember the prediction: J. G. will not go to Harrisburg next winter. He will be left at home where he can sell flour to his heart's content, and continue to sing do, re, me, fa, sol, la, se, do.

STATISTICS show that in 1492 there were in use, in gold and silver coin, in the civilized world $170,000,000.—Since then, up to 1868, the amount of gold and silver productions which has been added is estimated at $5,116,854,430. The amount now available for circulation is estimated by J. Ross Brown to be $5,835,000,000, the rest being used for other purposes.

The Railroad Bill.

Last week, in our attempt to show the people of Centre county, what they had lost by sending J. G. Meyer to represent us in the State Legislature, we asked P. G. Meek to answer the following questions: Does Mr. Meek endorse Mr. Meyer's course in the Legislature? Will Meek dare say that he has made an able member, and legislated in the interests of his constituents? Will he have the hardihood to say that Jacob G. Meyer has done anything for the Railroad through Pennsvalley?"

Mr. Meek writes an article, "a now you see it, and now you don't-see-it," article, upon the subject; but he fails to answer one of the above interrogations. He fails, indeed, to say whether, in his opinion, the bill was right or wrong. He writes all around the question without condemning any one; without saying one word for or against the Pennsvalley Railroad.

He does tell his readers, however, that on Friday the 18th inst., the most important financial bill, which has passed the legislature since the one repealing the tonage tax "became a law," was rushed through the Legislature at "break-neck speed."—The bill was entitled "an act to facilitate and secure the construction of an additional railway connection, between the waters of the Susquehanna, and the great lakes, by extending the aid and credit of certain corporations to the Jersy Shore, Pine Creek and Buffalo Railway Company."—Mr. Meek then goes on to say that this bill "takes from the sinking fund in the State Treasury, nine millions five hundred thousand dollars of Pennsylvania Railroad bonds, and bonds secured by that corporation, and distributes them to different routes as follows: to the Jersey Shore, Pine Creek and Buffalo $6.000,000. Pittsburg Virginia and Charleston $1,600,00. Clearfield and Buffalo $1,400,000. Erie and Allegheny $500,000. In lieu of the bonds taken from the Sinking fund it returns to it, mortgage Bonds on the Jersey Shore, Pine Creek and Buffalo road."

Here Mr. Meek should have ended his article; for in all that follows, the style and manner of his story only tend to arouse very strong suspicions in the mind of every thinking man, that all is not right with him on this question. But Meek is cunning, and attempts to allay any suspicions that might arise, in the following manner:

"We, of Centre county, have paid taxes into the State Treasury longer, and perhaps more of them, than any other county through which these proposed routes run. And yet for our Railroad, needed as badly as any road in the State is needed, the Lewisburg, Centre and Spruce Creek—the State has no aid whatever to give. Now why should we be left to build our own roads and get to market as best we can with our products, and the citizens of counties lying North and West of us be aided by the State in getting theirs out?"

Farmers of Pennsvalley, will you suffer your just indignation to be allayed by such soulless and hypocritical questions as the above? Do you not see that Mr. Meek evades the whole question? Do you suppose for a moment that he is unable to tell why Centre county gets nothing from the State, while the "counties lying North and West of us" receive so largely and so bountifully?

Meek knows that Centre county received no aid for the L. U. & S. C. Railroad simply because we had Jacob G. Meyer—a man totally incapable of representing this great county—in the legislature. He also knows that Clearfield received from the state $1,400,000 to aid in the construction of her road simply because she had W. A. Wallace, in the Senate to ask for it. We despise the politics of Mr. Wallace but it is a conceded fact that he has some brains. He takes care of his constituents, Jacob G. Meyer does not. Centre co. will never receive any aid from the State without asking for it, and so long as she continues to send men like Jacob G. Meyer, P. G. Meek, or Fred Kurtz to the Legislature she does not deserve any aid. A county that is content to disgrace herself from year to year, by sending such brainless material to represent her in the State Legislature deserves no better fate.

It is high time the honest Democratic voters of Centre county would vote for their own interests, and not for Rings and Cliques.

In Burrell township, Indiana county, a poor man has been lying some time at the point of death with the typhoid fever. Last week one of his charitable neighbors feeling sure the patient could not live over the day, showing his interest in the case, having business in Blairsville, ordered a coffin. The coffin was made, but the patient absolutely refuses to get into it while living, and there is a great probability of his getting well. All this goes to show that it is not always safe to take more than six per cent interest in other people's affairs.

The Huntingdon Journal says: "It is said that Bohner was seen by divers persons since his execution. And this is not a ghost story, nor yet a dream, nor a delusion of any sort, but a plain and simple truth. Bodenburg's corpse was buried, but that of Bohner was left on the hill near the Catholic graveyard unburied. He was propped up in his coffin, and a plug of tobacco put in his mouth, the sport and mockery of unprincipled specimens of humanity, until removed and buried by order of the borough authorities. We believe this to be true, however heathenish and disgraceful it is."

Corespondence.

Recollections of 1861-2—No. 2.

DEAR REPUBLICAN:

If ever there was a day of excitement in Bellefonte, it was that July day when we received the news of the first battle of Bull Run. The truth of that affair was bad enough, the dear knows, but the first reports we had were very ludicrous.—They seemed real enough then, for we knew but little of war, of which this was our first taste, at least our first good square meal.

If I am not mistaken, Capt. Aust. Snyder's three months' company was at that time in this department, and the supposition was they were engaged. It was certain in the minds of some of our savans, that not a man of them would live to tell the tale—they never would return—unless they came in the solemn hour of night in ghostly array. They all came back, however, and many of them lived to fight many greater battles during the war.

Timid men grew white with fear, that day, and the hearts of brave men sank, but they rose again with a determination which never weakened. The heart of the North was fixed with patriotic enthusiasm, and men enlisted by thousands, realizing that the 'breakfast job' of which we heard so much in those days, was likely to last till noon.

I remember one Bellefonte soldier who was wounded at Bull Run, and I have not forgotten the gentleman who was willing to "bet five dollars that he had shot himself to gain notoriety."—I remember, too, that this soldier fought till the last day of the war, with credit to himself and his country, while this gentleman never gained any notoriety by shooting himself, or any one else.

In connection with the three years companies which were formed in Centre county in 1861, I remember the names of Blair, who could not make a war speech until his name was affixed to the roll; Boal who fell in the service; Hutchison, who "still lives;" Weaver, and Curtin, and Geo. Corman—poor George, whose death I will refer to at the proper time, and Runkle, who gave his country an arm, and Jim Beaver, whom I saw starting out on horseback with blanket and sword. Yes, we called him Jim, then. We call him General, now. How well earned the title.

There were doubtless others who were just as prominent in these early movements, but I cannot now call their names. I am surprised and sorry to find how imperfect are my recollections of the doings of those days.

I would do very many good boys injustice if I failed to mention the "Invincibles," recruited in Bellefonte in 1861. It was, as you will remember, composed of young men and boys, every one of whom were anxious to sever the maternal apron-string, and enter the army. R. A. Cassidy, commanding, tendered the services of his company to Gov. Curtin, but they were not accepted, or if accepted they did not go for some reason which I have forgotten. Very many of the boys enlisted in other companies and made heroes of themselves. Some of them rest in honored graves.

In the fall of '61, W. W. Brown and James H. Rankin recruited a company of "sharp-shooters." That is what the bills called them. A select company—a company of "picked" men—picked up wherever they could be found. Wherever Brown raised his standard, men rushed in crowds to enlist under its folds. That is the way in which J. S. C. Abbot would write it, and he would state the truth, albeit the crowds which rushed were not as large as you might imagine, and there was nothing very frantic in their manner of rushing. Scarcely a township in the county but was represented in Brown's company, and I doubt if ever a better company was mustered into the service. Composed of first-class men—every one of whom, like Ward, would have been willing to see all his wife's relatives sacrificed rather than that rebellion should be successful.

You will find no fault with your correspondent for referring so particularly to this company, as his lot was cast with it during his connection with the Army of the Potomac. With these good boys we learned the A, B, C, of war. With them he drilled, and marched, and camped, and "fit."—With them he bean-souped, and hard-tacked, and foraged hen-roosts and sutlers, and blanketed "Virginny" bee-boxes, made Railroad and telegraph, built winter-quarters and sat by their big fires; saw many of these boys wounded, and followed some of them to their graves, now leveled by the plow. Out of of these varied doings, must come the "recollections" I shall endeavor to write up in my poor way for your paper. I shall have occasion to use the names of many of my old comrades in connection with incidents I shall recall. If any of them are disposed to find fault with me for so doing, they will be obliged to scold me at a great distance, for though neighbors once, and then comrades in arms, many miles now separate us.—Some of the poor fellows whose names shall be mentioned are past scolding, long ago. They have gone beyond the dread river whose waters wash the shores of time.

To the soldier, leaving home is an important step—a trying ordeal—especially if the soldier has a wife and more or less number of babies. But a man can't be a successful and useful soldier in war times, if he remains at home. To be sure he may be a home-guard—you know we had them during the war; but however ornamental they may be, they are not usually very useful.

Well, our time for leaving home, came on a fine autumn day. There was the usual amount of fuss, without, however, many feathers; the requisite amount of roll-calling, and forming of company, and of hand-shaking and weeping. Fathers marched in those ranks—children in arms and tearful wives beside them. Some of those curly haired children and sorrowful wives saw those husbands for the last time on earth, that autumn day. Pretty girls had lovers in those ranks, and therefore they wept pretty tears. And some of the boys said that something came up in their throats and choaked them. I don't say anything did come up, I only say the boys told me so, besides some of the boys kept trying to wash something down all the time.—We waded through tears as far as Dixon's hill, where there was a final leave-taking, and more tears.

The train (wagon train) was waiting and we were soon "oph for the wars." A more jolly crowd never crossed those mountains. We had a reception at Foust's, and "raised cain" at Lewistown, that night. So did the policemen. Next day, this was a fall day too, we reached the "seat of war"—Harrisburg—and marched to Camp Curtin. We had no guns, and many of us had never seen a cannon; but one of our company learned what a mortar was. His name was Weaver.—Marching along, gaping at some girls at an upper window, his foot came in contact with a mortar bed full of mortar, and he measured his length in that impressible material. He was well plastered and should have been lathed for looking at the girls. He tried to smooth the matter over by saying he was not looking at the girls; but he could not secondcoat it in that way, and tried to white-wash it with some other excuse, but looked decidedly streaked.

We soon reached Camp Curtin and entered the guarded gate at which we must leave the reader until my next letter.

Elk county, this state, has the largest tannery in the world. It is known as the "Wilcox Tannery," and was built three years ago. The proprietors own 22,000 acres of land on the Clarion river, all heavily covered with hemlock. The bark mills of the concern are in a building 45 by 100 feet, two stories high, and capable of grinding seventy-five cords of bark per day. These mills are driven by an eighty horse power engine, and the only fuel used is spent tan. The leaching house is 38 by 110 feet, and two stories high. It contains twelve leaches of immense size. The "sweat pit" is 70 by 90 feet, of stone.—Seven hundred vats are now in use. The company makes nothing but sole leather, and of this the product is 120,600 sides per annum; though when the tannery shall be completed 200,000 sides will be turned out. The consumption of bark is 14,000 cords per year.

THE POISONED TONGUE—The snake's poison is in its teeth; but there is something quite as dangerous, says an exchange, and much more common in communities, which has its poison in its tongue. Indeed, your chances of escape from a serpent are much greater. The worst snakes usually glide away, in fear, at the approach of man, unless disturbed or attacked. But this creature, whose poison lurks in its tongue, attacks without provocation, and follows up its victim with untiring perseverance. We will tell you its name so you will always be able to shun it. It is called a Slanderer. It poisons worse than a serpent. Often its venom strikes to the life of a whole family, or neighborhood, destroying all peace and confidence.—We have known this evil tongue to work mischief in the hearts of a whole community, destroying the sweetest friendship, and causing life long bitterness. Ah! beware of this poisoned tongue. The evil speaker is most abhorrent in the sight of our Heavenly Father. They who do such things have no inheritance in the "many mansions," where all is joy, and love, and blessedness.

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists. v2n12-6m.

THE GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine made from the native Roots and Herbs of California free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and Life Giving Principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator, of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$1000 will be given for an incurable case provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

Cause the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Prop'r, 32 Commerce, St., N. Y. R. A. McDONALD & CO., Druggist, and general Agents, San Francisco and Sacramento, California, and 32 & 34 Commerce St., N. Y.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion, or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed within us throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Two six-roomed houses for rent at low rates and in a good neighborhood—good large gardens. Apply to
A. B. HUTCHISON.

FROGS and toads hanging by one leg now form fashionable ear-rings.

FIRE.—Wm. Keller's house near Centre Hall, was injured by fire last week to the extent of $40.

SAND.—A very fine vein of yellow sand has been discovered near the Quaker burial ground, this place.

AN act has passed the Pennsylvania Legislature exempting sewing machines in use in families from levy and sale for debt.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Jessie Mauck, an old and respectable citizen of Millheim, died suddenly, recently of heart disease.

RETAINED.—Mrs. Samantha B. Hosterman of this place, has a letter in the Lock Haven Post Office retained for postage.

MAPS.—Miss Mattie Russel who is a very excellent school teacher at Unionville, has learned her scholars the art of drawing maps.

WANTED.—A good Piano Tuner can hear of something to his advantage by addressing or calling on Mrs. Dunham, Music Teacher, this place.

BIG CALF.—A calf three years old, owned by David Kreps, of Ferguson tp., was butchered the other day and weighed when dressed 1096 pounds.

GUBERNATORIAL.—John H. Orvis, Esq. of this place, is mentioned by several of our exchanges as the probable candidate of the democracy for gubernatorial honors.

FOR THE WEST.—Mr. Ezra Spangler, of Potter tp., moves to Joliet, Ill., this spring. Martin Leitzell and H. P. Cadwalader, intend moving to Nebraska in a short time. So says Fred Kurtz.

GHOST.—The Watchman says that a ghost recently appeared at a revival meeting in Millheim, this county, and calls on the editor of the Sunday School department in the National to investigate it.

REMOVED.—E. H. Kinsloe, successor to S. L. Barr, dec'd, in the Claim Agency and Insurance business, has removed his office to the room over Graham's boot and shoe store, on Allegheny street, near the diamond.

"DOWN with the taxes," says Bill. "Well ain't I reducing my taxes," says Tom. "How do you do it?" asked Bill. "Well, I'll tell you," says Tom, "Why, I get all my groceries of Levi A. Miller and thereby save money sufficient to pay all my taxes without feeling them.

LICENSE.—For sale at the office of the REPUBLICAN, blank petitions for license. Persons wishing to apply for license at the April Court, must have their petitions filed on or before the 3d of April. Persons who fail to file their petitions as above, will receive no license from the Court.

"HOP SCOTCH."—This is a game indulged in and greatly enjoyed by our juvenile population. If it is not so very refined, it has the virtue of being a healthy exercise. On last Saturday we noticed about forty rosy cheeked children of both sexes enjoying themselves in playing the game. It is much better than marbles.

INCOME TAX.—The income tax expires by limitation on the 13th day of April, 1870; after that date, according to the provisions of the law, it cannot be levied or assessed, unless a special act of Congress should re-establish it, which will not be the case, unless the Copperheads should unfortunately gain the ascendency and get up another rebellion.

POOR HOUSE.—The citizens of Milesburg and Boggs township have petitioned the legislature for the passage of an act authorizing the erection of a poor-house by said borough and township. The petition also asks that the act may be extended to as many townships or boroughs of Centre county, as shall decide by ballot in favor of the same.

NEW GOODS.—Harper Brothers, on Spring street, have received a large invoice of new spring goods, which they offer to purchasers remarkably cheap. Their stock consists of all the latest styles to be found in the eastern markets. They are honorable men, accommodating and sell goods at fair prices and give specie in change to customers if they desire it.

PERSONAL.—Last week Edward McGarvey, Esq., of Salt Lick, Clearfield county, called in and gave us a shake of his republican hand. Mr. McGarvey is upwards of sixty years old but feels as young as a boy of thirty. He is an old and influential resident of that place, and largely interested in the lumber trade, which he informs us is not very flattering this spring.

BOOT AND SHOE MAKER.—William Bell, has opened a boot and shoe shop near the United Brethern church, this place, where he is prepared to accommodate the public. Mr. Bell is a good workman as he was a good soldier. He was among the first to offer his services at the commencement of the late rebellion and served as a soldier during the whole of the war, and then three years in the regular army, from which he was but recently honorably discharged.

SUBSCRIBERS to the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN, changing their residence should notify us what Post office their paper should be mailed to.

IF you call to see a poor family do not give them a prayer half an hour long, but send them a barrel of flour. It will go further and do them more good.

MILTON is going to have a market house, the contract for its building having been let. How long will it be before we can make a similar announcement for this place.

THE Commissioner of Internal Revenue decides that farmers are required to make return of produce sold within the year, but are not required to return produce raised until the same is sold.

SOUP.—Photograph soup is made by hanging a chicken up in the sun and letting the shadow fall on the boiling water. This is better than the old way of making the chicken wade through the water.

IT is calculated that at noon on the first of March the sun was distant 92,212,632 miles from the earth. This distance increases at the rate of 1,067 miles each hour during the whole course of this month.

SOLDIERS who enlisted in 1861 on the first call of President Lincoln, and who were honorably discharged before the expiration of the term of their enlistment, are entitled to $100 each as bounty. Such was the decision of the Supreme Court.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Another one of those painful accidents from the use of coal oil, occurred at the residence of Isaac Haupt, one evening last week. The sufferer on this occasion is Catharine McQuillen, who was so badly burned that her life was for a time dispaired of. We have been informed that she will recover.

A NEW fashion is being introduced. Ladies are now having fans made in the shape of pistols and daggers. It is rather a curious sight to see the blushing, timid Miss Fawn drawing her "ivory revolver," or Miss Stern, a strong minded young lady, toying ferociously with her dagger, which she suddenly turns into a fan.

WHOLESALE, &c.—J. B. Ettele, continues to sell at his old stand on Bishop Street, all kinds of liquors, wholesale and retail. Mr Ettele does not deal in drugged liquors. Keeps none but the very best and purest brands which he sells at reasonable prices.

Mr. E. has been a resident of this place for ten years and has proved himself a good citizen and a reliable man

HOMŒOPATHY.—Dr. R. D. Tipple, we understand, has associated with himself in the practice of Homœopathic Medicine and Surgery, Dr. E. W. Viets, of Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Viets comes well recommended as a gentleman, a scholar and physician. Dr. V., was connected with the Homœopathic College and Hospital of Cleveland, for four years and gives as references the Faculty of that College.

MUTATIONS OF PLANETS.—The planet Venus, which has recently officiated as evening star, will be visable in the morning for the rest of the year. Jupiter is visible in the evening, being about six hours east of the sun. It will continue an evening star till May 1st. Saturn will begin to be visible in the evening about May 1st, and will then continue an evening star for the rest of the year.

LENGTH OF DAYS.—The first day of February was nine hours and fifty-eight minutes long, and the last day of the month eleven hours and twelve minutes, being a gain during the month of one hour and twelve minutes. In March the gain will be one hour and twenty-three minutes; in April one hour and twenty minutes; in May fifty-six minutes from June 1st to June 21st, when the maximum is reached, 16 minutes.

COAL.—We learn from the Merchants' Journal published at N. Y. and Philadelphia, March 23, 1870, that a convention of coal operators was held in Pottsville, on the Tuesday previous and agreed that the price of coal at Port Carbon should be $2,25 per ton, also that the price of coal at Port Richmond, Philadelphia, should be $3,75 and $4,20 per ton. From the same journal we learn that the average price of coal at the mines, for the last year, was $3,00 per ton of 2240 pounds.

ANOTHER CHANGE.—Our substantial friend A. Sussman, will in a few days move his store from its present location, to those splendid rooms in Bush's Arcade formerly occupied by Howell, Gilliland & Co. Mr. Sussman is well and favorably known by our people, and by adding over twelve thousand dollars to his already large stock, it is his intention to accommodate all his old customers and to hold out such inducements as will lead the entire community to call and examine his stock before purchasing elsewhere.

TOO MANY STUDIES.—We believe it to be an incontrovertable fact that too many studies have a tendency to impair the memory and inflict upon the child an irrepairable injury. The "cramming" process, which has become so prevalent in our schools, often result in death and in many cases, to great mental and physical damage. Recently, at Germantown, a little girl of thirteen years, while endeavoring to master a hard lesson was seized with brain fever and soon died. A case almost similar happened to a little girl of this place, this winter. Children should not be compelled to master more than one study at a time; by so doing their memories would be strengthened instead of impaired. A child should never take its studies home. Teachers and parents would do well by remembering the sad case of the little girl of Germantown.

IN answer to queries as to A. B. Hutchison's sale of his household goods, and a report that he intended to leave Bellefonte, we say that he means to remain here and pursue his legal business, and to publish the REPUBLICAN as heretofore.

He gives special attention to Bounty and Pension claims.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—Our enterprising friends Pat. McAffrey & Co., inform the public that they have just received a large and splendid lot of fashionable boots and shoes, which they will sell at reduced prices. McAffrey & Co., warrant their work, to be just what they represent it to be. They have gained the reputation of being fair men, and of keeping excellent stock. They deserve success.

SEED CORN.—In another column of the REPUBLICAN will be seen the advertisement of Jas. H. Alexander, of Lewistown, Pa. Mr. A., advertises a variety of corn, said to be safe from frost in 90 days; also "California Oats," weighing from 40 to 45 pounds per bushel. He sent us a package of the oats, which we presented to H. N. McAllister, Esq., who we presume will test it fully on his model farm. We also received one ear of the 90 days corn which we will plant and report progress at the expiration of 90 days from time of planting.

WOOLEN FACTORY.—W. D. Keller, Jas. Stuart and J. Ludwig have leased from the Proprietor David Keller, the Spring Creek Woolen Factory, and made all the necessary arrangements to carry on the business in all its various branches. Cloths, Cassimeres, Jeans, Satinets, Tweeds, Flannels, Blankets, &c., &c., will be manufactured by them and sold to farmers and others for cash, or in exchange for wool. Their wool wagons will travel all over this and adjoining counties delivering manufactured goods and buying wool. Keller Stuart & Co., constitute a strong firm, composed as it is of practical, energetic thorough-going men. We wish them success.

Public Sales.

We have this week printed bills for the following sales:

——A. Krom one of the Proprietors of the Brockerhoff House will sell on Saturday, April 2d, 1870, four draft horses, two driving horses, six fine hogs, two buggies, one Carry-all wagon, one spring wagon. Also a large lot of retained baggage, such as trunks, and valises filled with clothing, &c., &c. Sale will commence at 1 o'clock, p. m. of said day.

——Haupt & Co., will sell at public outcry, at the Foundry in the Borough of Milesburg, Centre co., Pa., on Thursday, march 31st, 1870, their entire stock of fixtures at said Foundry and Machine Shops, consisting of Turning Lathes and Tools, Patterns and Blacksmith tools, Plows, Plow-shears, 30 Cook, Parlor and Heating Stoves, Sled soles, Wagon boxes, Tinware, Stovepipe. Two head of good horses, horse gears, 2 two horse wagons, new, one top buggy, threshing machine, harrows, cultivators, &c., &c. Isaac Haupt will sell at the same time and place, 1 large bay stallion and two fine iron-gray horses.

Sale to commence at 10 o'clock, a. m., of said day. A reasonable credit will be given. For further particulars see large Posters.

Journalistic.

The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin is much improved in appearance and in the merit of its editorials and original sketches. The information derived from the latter is interesting and valuable. Its history of original local names and of the early settlements of Central Pennsylvania are unique. A daily is published at the same office. Why not send us your daily?

We are in receipt of No. one, two and three of the weekly Progress, published at South Bethlehem, Pa., it presents a neat typographical appearance and is filled with choice selections, well written editorials and lively and interesting local items. It is published by O. B. Sigley & Co., at $2,00 per annum.

The Educational Gazette for March contains good stories and much valuable educational matter. C. H. Turner & Co., Philadelphia, Publishers.

NEW DAILY.—We have received the first Nos. of the Daily Topic, a new Daily started at Harrisburg Pa. It is a five column 22 X 30 sheet. It is edited and published by Dr. John H. Gihon, formerly private Secretary to Governor Geary. It is Republican in politics, sustains both the State and National Administrations, and promises to be of great use to the Republican party.

THANKS.—We were agreeably surprised a few days since, by the Express Agent, walking into our new sanctum, and placing upon our table a first rate Silk Hat, expressed to us from Phila., by Col. Isaac May. Well! What do you think we said? What could we say? The Col. was not present; but if he had been, we would have made a little speech, something after this fashion:

Col. May, of the firm of Loeb, May & Loeb, be pleased Sir, to receive the heartfelt thanks of the Senior Editor of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN for this handsome present, through which, we presume, it is your intention, to express your respect and esteem for us, your best wishes for the REPUBLICAN and your hearty co-operation in the great work in which we are engaged. Receiving such evidence of your approval—loyal and patriotic citizen as you have always been—rest assured, Honored Sir, that it will nerve our arm to strike stronger and more effective blows in favor of humanity, liberty and right, and to hurl with increased power the hot shot and shell of incontrovertable truth into the ranks of treasops speckled hordes and of the enemies of our free institutions everywhere.

In conclusion, permit us Col. May, happy and prosperous as your past has been, to wish you a more happy, more prosperous and a more glorious future. May everything you touch turn to gold and may your good deeds and virtuous actions, which will live long after you are dead, be strong and consoling testimony to your friends, that you have gone to mingle your songs with Isaac of old in the home of the just.

"DOWN BRAKES."—Miss Anna Dickinson lectured in T. R. Reynolds' new Hall, on Monday evening, the 28th inst., to a crowded house. We have not space for a report of her lecture. We can only say that she is a beautiful and eloquent talker, and her lecture, in composition, in matter, in the great and mighty truths it contained, surpasses anything we have everheard.

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA M. E. CONFERENCE.—This conference which met in Lewistown last week was well attended and was composed of men of more than ordinary ability. The following appointments for the Altoona district will be of interest to our readers:

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality,

RANGING FROM $6.50 TO $18.00

—the very best.
